SUMMARY

I am a Frontend Web Developer creating responsive, accessible, and high performance web applications. I specialize in turning designs into clean, functional code using HTML, CSS, JavaScript, and frameworks like Bootstrap, React, and Next.js. I have built everything from landing pages to full scale web apps, focusing on user experience, cross browser compatibility, and modern best practices. I enjoy collaborating with teams to bring ideas to life and take pride in writing maintainable, scalable code while staying up to date with the latest web technologies.
